WMST - Women's Studies

WMST 305. Women, the Environment, and Climate Change. 3 Credits.
This course will examine ways that women have been actively involved in environmental issues from earliest history through today. Students will assess their own connection to place and examine and access ecofeminist theory and national and global environmental justice movements, along with briefly reviewing gender and farming practices. Finally, the course will examine how climate change issues are affecting lives around the globe, including ours, and question how gender-, race-, and class-sensitive responses to the environmental challenges facing our planet can be created. Prerequisite: ENGL 110C.

WMST 368. Internship. 3-6 Credits.
Course provides an opportunity to gain experience working in organizations and government agencies. Students’ work should engage with women’s issues at the local, regional, national, and/or global levels. Students must work for at least 50 hours per course credit. Prerequisites: A minimum of one WMST course, junior standing and instructor approval.

WMST 390T. Women, Gender, and Technology Worldwide. 3 Credits.
An exploration of women as designers and users of technology and of the impact of technology on women’s lives across the world. Variations in women’s experiences by race, class, culture, and sexuality will be stressed, along with particular focus on global developments that shape the context of people’s lives. Prerequisites: Three semester hours in human behavior or history.

WMST 395. Topics in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. 1-3 Credits.
A study of selected topics in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. These courses are usually interdisciplinary and align with faculty teaching and research strengths. Prerequisites: WMST 201S or instructor approval.

WMST 396. Topics in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. 1-3 Credits.
A study of selected topics in Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. These courses are usually interdisciplinary and align with faculty teaching and research strengths. Prerequisites: WMST 201S and sophomore standing or permission of the instructor.

WMST 400/500. History of U.S. Women’s Activism. 3 Credits.
This course historicizes U.S. women’s social, political, and rhetorical activism over the last 200 years, tracing their entry into and shaping force upon public life. The course examines the development of women’s activism in the nineteenth century, the twentieth century women’s (or feminist) movement, and its current status, particularly in relation to postfeminism and a “third” wave. Prerequisite: WMST 201S.

WMST 401W/501. Women: A Global Perspective. 3 Credits.
An analysis of the global forces that impact women’s lives throughout the world. Particular emphasis is placed on the status of women in the developing world, international institutions that protect women’s rights, and efforts to promote gender equality worldwide. This is a writing intensive course. Prerequisites: WMST 201S and a grade of C or better in ENGL 211C or ENGL 221C or ENGL 231C.

WMST 402/502. Feminisms and Sexualities. 3 Credits.
This course will examine feminist approaches to the subject of sexuality in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The course examines theorizations of sexuality, such as radical, critical race, and transnational feminisms, queer theory, and trans studies. Key questions will be: how do feminists theorized sexualities? What does sexuality have to do with feminist studies or practices? How do other identities, such as race and class, inform sexuality? Prerequisite: WMST 201S, WMST 390T, or instructor approval.
WMST 405/505. Gender and Media. 3 Credits.
This course examines media-based sites of knowledge production using a feminist approach, in order to imagine new and more complex ways to think about media rhetorics; celebrity culture; digital media; and the politics of representation. Key questions will be: What roles do media play in shaping social movements? What are the promises and pitfalls of activist interventions in the realm of commercial culture? In what ways might we complicate narratives of co-optation or selling out? The class explores these questions using an intersectional lens attentive to the complex interconnections of race, class, gender, and sexuality. Case studies will include national, international, and transnational media events. Prerequisite: WMST 201S, WMST 390T, or instructor approval.

WMST 406/506. Gender, Fashion & the Body. 3 Credits.
This interdisciplinary class explores the body as a canvas for both history and the future of our concept of individualism. Students will have the opportunity to reflect not only on their own understanding of the body but also that of the body across a variety of experiences. Students will complete auto-ethnographic essays and a course paper on the body relating to her/his/ their academic research interests. Prerequisites: WMST 201S.

WMST 410/510. Sexing the Body. 3 Credits.
This course will explore the spectrum of what it means when we consider humans to exist in a gendered and sexed world. Students will critique their own preconceived notions of sex, probe issues of equality and social justice, and discuss what these questions mean both in the United States and globally. The course will culminate with a restructuring of how we understand the ways in which we define sex, sexuality, and sexual practice, taking into consideration how our own identities are impacted by culture and society. Prerequisites: WMST 201S.

WMST 460W/560. Feminist and Queer Theory. 3 Credits.
This course will examine feminist and queer theories, specifically intersectional, transnational, and radical perspectives. It explores how feminist and queer scholars approach research, writing, and knowledge production, and applies these insights to students' own interests. The course analyzes how feminist and queer scholars have written about storytelling, the body, and desire, and links these discussions to how to produce positive social change in our world. This course is fundamentally interdisciplinary; students are encouraged to make connections between the course materials, their research interests, and other fields of study. This is a writing intensive course. Prerequisites: WMST 201S, WMST 302W or QUST 302W, and a grade of C or better in ENGL 211C or ENGL 221C or ENGL 231C.

WMST 470/570. Feminist Research Methods. 3 Credits.
The course explores the ethics, practice, and multiple forms of conducting feminist research. Narrative research methods are practiced through hands-on oral herstory assignments. Throughout the course, the process of knowledge construction is interrogated from a feminist perspective. Prerequisites: WMST 460W.
