School of Speech-Language Pathology

Dr. Stacie Raymer, Chair

Dr. Kimberly Murphy, Undergraduate Program Director

The School of Speech-Language Pathology offers undergraduate and graduate degrees that prepare professionals to address communication and swallowing disorders and differences that disrupt learning, health, and quality of life for people across the lifespan. As stipulated by our accreditation status, the degrees are offered primarily in face-to-face format. The bachelor's degree offers elective opportunities for early clinical experiences in preparation for master's degree programs in speech-language pathology (offered at Old Dominion University) or clinical doctoral programs in audiology (offered at other universities) where students become licensed and certified for clinical practice.
