

Certificate

Epidemiology Certificate

Epidemiology is the study of the distribution and determinants of disease, illness and injury. The Graduate Epidemiology Certificate is a 15-credit hour program designed to provide the learner with an understanding of the concepts of epidemiology used in public health practice. The certificate is intended to provide the concepts, methods and tools needed for the assessment of health situations and trends of population groups.

Curriculum Requirements

MPHO 605	Introduction to Biostatistics for Public Health	3
MPHO 614	Principles of Epidemiology	3
MPHO 779	Intro to Research Methods	3
Electives - Select Two		6
MPHO 630	Health Communication and Social Marketing for Public Health
MPHO 702	Biostatistics II
MPHO 711	Epidemiology Methods I
MPHO 715	Current Issues in Epidemiology
MPHO 737	Infectious and Chronic Disease Epidemiology
MPHO 772	International Health Exchange Program
Total Credit Hours		15