

Minor

Print Media Minor

A minor in print media gives students an introduction to a wide range of printmaking techniques. From historical techniques like stone lithography to cutting edge processes such as laser engraving and cut vinyl. Through their coursework, students learn to work on paper, fabric, and non-traditional materials. The minor in print prepares students to produce fine art prints, custom clothing designs, hand printed posters, and more.

Students majoring in 3D Media and Material Studies, Photography and Print Media, Painting and Drawing, Art Education for Museums and Cultural Institutions, and PreK-12 Art Education are not eligible for this minor.
