MKTG 417 Advanced Professional Selling (3 Credit Hours)
This course will reinforce and strengthen the sales skills learned in MKTG 316. Personal selling is a key skill for orchestrating the exchange of goods, services, ideas, and resources between organizations (business-to-business, B2B) and consumers (B2C). This course is not just for 'salespeople' — individuals involved in personal selling who operate under a variety of job titles (e.g., business development manager, sales representative, market development manager, account executive, relationship manager, and key account manager). This course will focus on skills and knowledge applicable to complex selling situations.
Prerequisites: C or better in MKTG 316

MKTG 428 Marketing of Services (3 Credit Hours)
This course examines the applications of the conceptual framework of marketing within the service business context. The course will focus on the characteristics of the service environment as well as important considerations in the service marketing mix.
Prerequisites: C or better in MKTG 311 (or equivalent), and a declared major in the University or permission of the Dean's Office

MKTG 450 Marketing on the Internet (3 Credit Hours)
This course examines the use of the Internet as a unique channel for marketing to consumers and businesses. It focuses on Internet marketing strategies, online strategic implementation, and the integration between companies' online and offline marketing efforts.
Prerequisites: C or better in MKTG 311 (or equivalent), and a declared major in the University or permission of the Dean's Office

MKTG 455 Social Media Marketing (3 Credit Hours)
This course will introduce students to the significance of today's social media marketing tools, and how to implement and evaluate these tools for a business. The students will learn how to create a social media plan with multiple creative social media strategies. The course will also highlight best practices in social media marketing by forward thinking and innovative companies and organizations.
Prerequisites: C or better in MKTG 311 (or equivalent), and a declared major in the University, or permission of the instructor

MKTG 460 Web Analytics (3 Credit Hours)
This course will introduce students to web analytic tools and methods and demonstrate how businesses can use web analytics to derive customer insight and improve marketing strategy. It will cover topics such as web traffic analysis, social media data mining, search and keyword analysis, social network analysis, and proactive analytics using testing and experimentation.
Prerequisites: BNAL 306, a grade of C or better in MKTG 311, and a declared major in the University, or permission of the instructor

MKTG 475 Marketing Analytics (3 Credit Hours)
Marketing analytics comprises the processes and technologies that enable managers to have a better understanding of the market, i.e., the performance of marketing programs, the need of the customers, and the forecast of sales. In other words, it supports managers' decision making using evidence and insights from available data. This course will give students the tools and techniques to effectively use data to evaluate past marketing programs, boost the present marketing initiatives, and predict future business and customer performance.
Prerequisites: C or better in MKTG 311 and C or better in BNAL 306, a declared major in the University or permission of the Dean of the Strome College of Business, or permission of the instructor

MKTG 490 Marketing Policy and Strategy (3 Credit Hours)
A capstone course covering the marketing function and its relationship to the total business organization and its environment. Emphasis is placed upon the design of total marketing systems, strategies, and the design and production of new products and services.
